VOL. 4 NO. 6

LOMOND, ALBERTA, FRIDAY, SEPT. 19, 1919

$1.00 PER YEAR.

LOCALETS

Mr. Anderson, Mrs. Salter's and Mrs. Baker's father and the Misses Ida and Ruth Pearson, their cousins, motored from Wetaskewin Tuesday. They will be in Lomond several days.

o o o

Mr. and Mrs. F.L. Willard have been visiting friends at Coaldale and taking in the Coaldale fair.

o o o

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown have as their guest Mr. Brown's brother from High River, who was just recently demobilized from overseas service.

o o o

The Bow City mines are now working with three eight hour shifts and have now succeeded in cutting through the drift of rock that has for some time been holding back production. Deliveries can now be made with no delays.

D. C. Klassen, late of the Second Machine Gun Corps in the C. E. F., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Rae L. King. Mr. Klassen was with the army of occupation in Germany, acting as interpreter with his division. He says that while the German bread was pretty punk they still had some nifty wine.

The seven-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lawler passed away at the Lawler home on Wednesday night, following a lingering illness of several weeks. Funeral services were held this morning at 10 o'clock, interment being made in the Lomond cemetery.

As the issue is a day late we are going to tell you about the wonderfully pleasant time staged by the G.W.V.A. at their initial dance. The crowd was none too large and was a bit formal in its hours of approach, but after getting jazzed up a bit in a circle one-step, proceeded to take the best out of life until Home Sweet Home. Miss Gow at the piano and Willard with the drums provided a very satisfactory orchestra. The next dance to be given will be a masquerade, watch for the date.

THE PRESS is suffering from a severe drouth in news. If there has been any showers lately they haven't fallen in our back yard, or front yard either. Of course there have been several fisticuff and hatchet encounters, and others pending, but they're not what we care to enlarge upon. We try to keep track of the new babies as well as the matrimonial adventures, and occasionally spear a first offender, like Paul, at growing a moustache, but for a choice line-up of parlor gossip we will admit our failure in the sewing circle. Politics confuse us, lack of funds embarrasses us, so we would appreciate co-operation in making life interesting.

Farming holds more promise since the soaking rains have come with consistent regularity for the past four or five weeks. There is some satisfaction in soil cultivation when there is a sufficiency of moisture to perfect a seed bed. The Russian thistles are crowding themselves out, and by the help of a frost which will likely come within the next couple of weeks most farmers will be fairly well rid of this nuisance next year, if we are to be blessed with a crop season.

Ford SEDAN

NOT a dollar is spared either in the construction or finish of the Ford Sedan—and not a dollar is wasted.

Just as the Ford car reached the summit of motor car Efficiency and Value, the Sedan has attained the utmost in Motoring Comfort.

The Ford Electric Starting and Lighting System—Standard Equipment on all Ford Closed Models—adds a touch of finality to the convenience of these cars.

It is as reliable, and positive in action as the Ford Motor into which it is built. A two-unit system, Generator, Starting Motor and Battery—a Ford product.

The Ford Standard Magneto also provides ignition, independent of the batteries.

An instrument board on the cowl gives convenient control of the system. See it by all means, or, better—ask for a demonstration of the Ford Sedan.

PRICES—including Electric Starting and Lighting, Ford Sedan $1175. Ford Coupe $975, f. o. b. Ford, Ont. (War tax extra)

RAE L. KING, PROP

LOMOND, ALBERTA, SEPT. 19, 1919

Dr. Frank Crane says:—

There is a great deal of bunk about Altruism.

When a man approaches me with a scheme, and says he doesn't want to make any money, but is working for the good of his fellow men, I suspect he is a rascal, and 75 per cent of the time my suspicions are well founded.

This world is organized on a pay-as-you-go basis. If you have anything to offer that is of value men should pay you for it, and they are usually willing.

The most altruistic thing in the world, really, is an honest business. A fair and square grocer does more good in the world than a free lunch counter.

Giving people something for nothing is, in most cases, wicked.

Doling out charity, giving out charity giving to the poor, bread lines, free soup kitchens, almsgiving and the like, are by-products of unjust privilege, predatory wealth, autocracy and class nonsense.

Democracy aims to establish justice. It does not ask the rich to be kind to the poor, but to treat the poor honestly.

In Kingdom Come there will be no charity (meaning almsgiving). There will be Justice.

Democracy is intelligent selfishness which is a great deal better than stupid unselfishness.

"Safety First" is not placarded by a railroad or factory because a boss loves it, but by it the boss gets better help. It saves him money.

Steam and electricity has done more to improve the condition of the masses than the reformers.

The employees of a department store are instructed to use Courtesy, not because the proprietor is a nice man, but because he has sense, and knows that courtesy pays, and that discourtesy drives away customers.

The banks advocate thrift, not because they wish "to do good" and are managed by benevolent kind gentlemen but in order to get more deposits, which is far and away a better reason, because is based on a belief that thrift pays, and produces happiness, and not that is an unpleasant moral duty.

The man who advances the cause of righteousness most is the man that can show us that it is a cosmic law and that by the law of averages, it pays.

All this, of course, does not mean that we are to do no kind deed without getting money for it. It means the discovery that the kind deed in the long run brings more happiness, more profit.

Good Literature is now in every home, magazines more splendid than our fathers ever dreamed of, not because somebody was kindhearted, but because somebody found out it was profitable. Talking machines and player-pianos bring good music to the lonely ranch and far-off settlement, because it pays.

The inventor, the engineer, the business organizer, the intelligent politician the skilful workman, and all who do good honest work, those who create and organize, and show us how to live together without fighting, these are the true Altruists not those who talk of it.

Frank Vickers has sold out his 18 ton car of fruit which he received from Penticton B. C. last week. He disposed of the entire car load with only 1800 lbs of sugar. As a result Mr. Vickers seems to be very hoarse today presumably from persuading his customers into using less sugar than they wanted.

LOCALETS

A great many people have been making a wild scramble to get fruit and enough sugar to properly preserve it. Fruit dealers have been hard hit by the sugar shortage as a great quantity of the product has spoiled on their hands. On the other hand the increased price demanded for this season's product has held back the consumer, particularly in the large drouth afflicted areas. The Commerce Commission has not gotten around to the fruit proposition yet, even though a crimp was put into the Winnipeg butter and bacon market. It is maintained by wholesalers that the Canadian sugar shortage was caused through over-exportation on the part of the manufacturers.

A shrewish Scotswoman tried to wean her husband from the public-house by employing her brother to act the part of a ghost and frighten John on his way home. "Who are you?" said the guidman, as the apparition rose before him from behind a bush. "I am Auld Nick," was the reply. "Come awa'," said John, nothing daunted; "gie's a shake of your hand—I am married tae a sister o' yours."

A SUBSCRIBER WRITES

Some time! eh? when the axe, which has been the pioneer method of improvement in this new country would be disgraced by being used as a weapon of warfare. We have often read of George Washington, "the father of his country", how he used the axe to chop down the cherry tree. But those were in the early days before prohibition! And now in these times of higher education and social uplift, it sounds rather absurd that an axe, which is first cousin to a tomahawk and which brings back thoughts of the old days of the redman in his uncivilized bravery, was in reality used on the streets of our quiet little town. One man running at top speed, another in his wake,

NOTES

The northern part of the province is gaining great popularity this year and those people bestow upon us a smile of benevolence. But we'll wager that in less than two years the south will be more than ever in the limelight. The south is peopled with men of a broader caliber,
higher velocity and lower trajectory. In other words, men in the south apparently are imbued with a broader vision,
travel with a greater "push,"
and certainly circulate their money more freely than the tightwads of the north. Take the political machine out of the north country and it would only get about two lines a day in the Morning Albertan.

The editor has an Alberta potato, 1919 edition, grown on our homestead plot that weighs 1½ pounds. For a dry year like this it is perhaps phenomenal,
and George Hedges is the only
serious competitor to our reputation. The late rains are doing wonders for the spud crop and will go a long way toward relieving the impending shortage.
